Half Halt (Show Jumping Dreams ~ Book 15)

Synopsis

It's February and love is in the air. With Valentine's Day fast approaching, it suddenly seems more important than ever to hook up with someone. Mickey has to find the courage to tell Ethan how she really feels. Faith has a crush on the new boy in her lesson group. And all Emily can think about is how there must be something wrong with her because she couldn't really care less about having a boyfriend. But with the dressage show only weeks away, Emily must help her best friend try to concentrate on her riding instead of boys and she's promised to be her groom at the show. So when her father encourages her to enter as well, best friends will suddenly become riding rivals. Can their friendship really survive the test? And even though Jess has left Fox Run, her legacy lives on. Someone is pushing for Emily's father to be investigated further in the horse drugging scandal that happened while he was in Europe and Emily knows that Jess and her father are behind it. She doesn't want to believe that the allegations are true but does she really know her father well enough to be sure that he wouldn't drug a horse to secure a win?

I still love these books but they are starting to sound more and more alike. The places may change but the obstacles in Emily's way don't seem to much. A mother who has moved away and will not even connect with her child because Emily didn't want to move to a cold snowy climate from Florida? Not very real. I guess I didn't get into these for real though. Just for fun and they are still despite the lack of logic. Svendsen has a good thing going here and she knows it.

For some reason I just can't stop following this series Show Jumping Dreams. Is it the horses? Is it the drama? Is it the teenage antics? Is it the fact that Claire Svendsen weaves a great tale? Or is it all of the above? You got it, it's all of the above! Once again liking forward to Claire's next book.

This installment was everything it promised to be - Emily got to support Mickey at the dressage show and in the end, all worked out at the Valentines Ball - what will happen next between Emily & Jordan? Emily is finding Virtual School gives her the time she needs to be able to concentrate on her riding and soon she will be off to the Young Riders clinic - who will she take, what has happened to Bluebird and what will be the outcome of her father's suspension hearing - so much depends on it for them both ... keep an eye out for Claire Svendsen's next book in this series - Young Riders.

Once again Claire Stevenson has blown me away. I love all her books and have read all of the show jumping dreams series. keep it up Claire you are a beautiful talented lady. your stories inspire everyone around you. even in the equestrian world too TM <

I really love these books but I read to fast within a couple hours it's gone and I have to WAIT lol I cant wait for the new one but that's going to be a little while o and did I mention I LOVE THESE BOOKS!! So keep them coming ok?

For a growing up story it keeps my attention with all the drama. The main character is not sure if she wants to try new things (like go to a Dressage clinic or the Valentine's ball), but she goes along with the peer pressure and attends both events. She can't win everything, but the ending is a good sign of a possible romance. I have one more book in the series. Onwards!

This book series is amazing! (If ur a true horse lover) Right when you start reading Show Jumping series, you will fall in love and get attached to this book! I highly recommend this book!

This was one of the top five books in this series. Super cute and relatable. Appropriate for all ages.

Two thumbs up!
